Merry Christmas, and Happy New Year!

We have been blessed by so many of you who were willing to assist us with sponsorship of the Christmas party we hosted, for the Nicaraguan children and their families. The money given was above and beyond the monthly assistance for ministry. If not for your help these children wouldn't have had any Christmas celebration at all. Our local church helped us with the clown show, puppets, the art and dance performances. Our pastor, Sergio, shared the Gospel message and the reason for Christmas. After the service we continued the festivities with a Piñata, a supper of "Arroz con Pollo" (a traditional dish of chicken and rice), and cookies! The children received the sponsor's presents and they were all so excited!

One of the boys asked us: "How much did you pay for this?" Our response was: "We don't know." We further explained that there are people all over the world that wanted to help them, even many of the Costa Rican neighbors sponsored gifts, and that these people were the ones who gave the gifts, we just helped. That is YOU! You blessed these families! So, on the families', and our behalf: THANK YOU!

Luke 3:10 And the crowds asked him, "What then shall we do?" 11 And he answered them, "Whoever has two tunics is to share with him who has none, and whoever has food is to do likewise."

We were honored to host our friends from the U.S.. The Anderson's came down from Minnesota to give us a hand and learn the many components that make up missions ministries today. They were able to experience the immersive rural Costa Rican living at it's finest. We realized after they arrived that they had a roommate in their cabin, a rat. Although we tried, we could not capture it. Thankfully, Michael and his family were gracious and shared their time with the rat they named "Ratbert".
