“You can give without loving, but you cannot love without giving.”

- Amy Carmichael

Dearest friends,

Though this letter is printed and mailed from our US Mission office, I wanted you to know that this is a very personal letter, only for our donors. I turned 60 this year if you remember, and it is a season for reflection and memory. And all I can say, even though our ministry has had its many times of blessing and joy, it has also meant sacrifice and losses along the way.

And one of the great blessings I can count on is that for many years, a few but so faithful friends have been upholding us. Because of the extra support from people like you in the States, we have been able to do so much more than we imagined. It makes me think of the account in Exodus 17:12-14 (GNT) “When Moses’ arms grew tired, Aaron and Hur brought a stone for him to sit on, while they stood beside him and held up his arms, holding them steady until the sun went down. In this way Joshua totally defeated the Amalekites. Then the Lord said to Moses, Write an account of this victory, so that it will be remembered. Tell Joshua that I will completely destroy the Amalekites.”

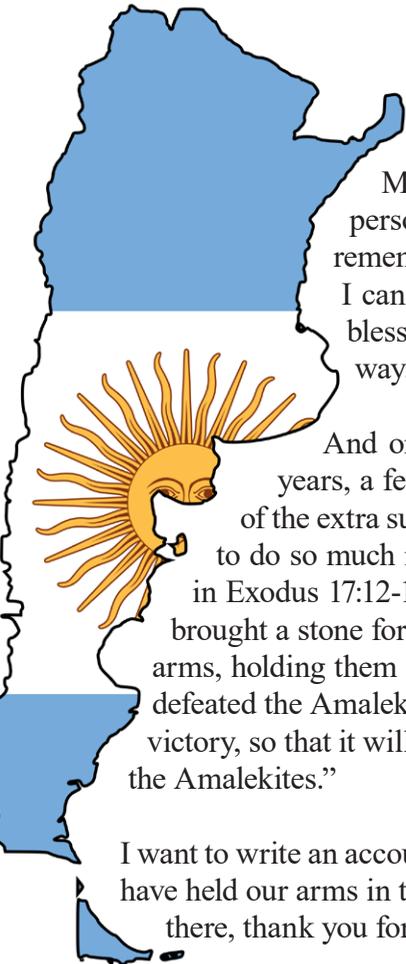

I want to write an account of God’s faithfulness in our provision over the years, and that, dear friends, is because you have held our arms in the mission field. You have been part of everything we are doing here... Thank you for being there, thank you for helping us bring light in our part of the world.

Humberto and a group of pastors met with President Macri last month for a time of prayer and encouragement. We are part of the Pastoral Council in Cordoba, involving around 200 churches to teach and train them monthly. We are active in government activities, and part of the national pastoral council of Argentina. We prepare teaching materials that are used in many places, and we teach marriage seminars and preach at different churches... Our 3 children are active in our local congregation, and also in youth leadership activities... for which we can only praise God for this. Being raised in a missionary/pastoral home is not an easy task. Yet God is faithful and has carried us through as a family.

So... to conclude... all I can say is Thank you, thank you, thank you! You have been both loving and giving and we so appreciate your generosity.

In His service, in Argentina,

- Humberto and Evelyn Jiménez-Saint
