Because of the Covid 19 virus, the villages we visit have been under restrictions. Even though some orders have begun to loosen recently, we were not allowed to meet together and visit outlying villages. The past two weeks we have been able to meet with our leaders and visit in very small groups and time limitations. But despite all these inconveniences, God is continually at work!

Sister Toi is one of our faithful evangelists. She has a son named Buak who left home when he was only fifteen and has not lived with her since. He has been working in Bangkok at a restaurant for years and she has not been able to spend much time with him. When Covid 19 started breaking out in Bangkok, all of the malls were forced to shut down. Buak found himself stuck in his apartment with no income and barely enough to eat. For a time he couldn't leave the city because of a lockdown! Eventually he was able to get a bus ticket and come up to be with his mom. When he got here, he was thin and sickly looking, but over the next few days he started looking healthy again. His mother knew she might not have much time with him before he returned to Bangkok, so she started telling him about Jesus every chance she had. His heart really opened up to the Lord and he received baptism right before going back to work. His sister, who is a believer too, later said that she never thought her brother would become a believer. But God had a plan and a way to reach him. Praise the Lord!

In one of the villages where we have a group of believers, someone heard strange sounds from one of the neighbors houses. When they went to investigate they found a lady inside. She had a rope around her neck and was trying to hang herself. She had been involved with occult practices and appeared to have a demon. The believers prayed for her and she was delivered. She has been peaceful since and they are sharing Jesus with her.

In Wang Tho village, a young man named Tho was being tormented by evil spirits. They were speaking to him in his ear and saying they were going to kill him. He was fearful and could not rest. He had previously been taking drugs but had stopped for 18 days. His mother and grandmother brought him over to Mr. Sum and Mrs. Gaan's house. At first, Tho was laughing and mocking and speaking in a strange voice. But after prayer he began to open up to the Lord. Now, he has been able to go to work, his headaches and other problems have cleared up. He is depending on Jesus to help him.

There are so many young people in the villages that are bound by drugs. Almost all of the dads and moms that come to the Lord here are burdened for their children. Many are in prison for drug related crimes. It is really a plague that is destroying so many young lives. If you could pray with us for break through in this area we would really appreciate it. We want to see these young men and women passionate about Jesus and free from the devil's clutches.

Thank you so much for your prayers and support! We need you now more than ever!
