Dear friends, Isn't our God so great?!

This month, I want to talk about the ladies who come to the Friday Night Meetings that I run. God is on the move! You might remember me sharing a while ago about how Helen has been working through some unforgiveness in her heart. Over this past year, she has really been taking steps to allow God to heal her as well as to heal those of whom she is forgiving. She is taking steps in faith to be fully healed and allow God to have all of her. So with that being said- at one of the meetings, we were talking about forgiveness and how if we do not forgive, we are holding ourselves and the other person captive to that unforgiveness. And if we don't forgive, neither of us can be released to move forward out of that place and into the next step of freedom. There was this one particular lady named "C" and she has been having a really hard time with family and wrongs being done to the family. And she made a comment that she doesn't think that she could ever forgive her granddaughter for what she has done. "C" said that the place she is in now, she isn't sure if this will ever change. Well, the cool thing is that Helen was able to share her testimony with "C"!! And we got to speak together and encourage her. As "C" was sharing, I knew that Helen was going to be the one to minister to her and tell her the truths of God's love and forgiveness. I was so proud of Helen for taking that leap of faith! God moved in the lives of the women that night and I think it has sparked a new flame of how they see themselves as well as how they see others. I have asked a couple of the ladies to write a small paragraph for the letter so that you could hear from them personally. Enjoy!

From Helen:

Hope you're all safe and well. I would like to share something with you all. I was at a ladies meeting on Friday and we were talking about forgiveness and a very special friend of mine was talking to us about someone in her family - due to certain circumstances she could not forgive this person. As I was listening, the Holy Spirit spoke to me and told me to share my story journey of unforgiveness with her. A few years ago, I couldn't forgive this particular lady for lots of different reasons. One day Jessica was visiting and we got on to the subject about forgiving, to cut a long story short I forgave this person and also myself. WOW!!! It was an amazing feeling. I would encourage everyone to do it. And so, this night, I shared all of this with my special friend "C". She heard and understands what we shared. Now we need to pray that she can allow God to help her forgive.

Trust in The Lord! Blessings! -Helen

From Chris:

(The night we spoke on God's goodness.) I love when God confirms and confirms even more. God's goodness was our teaching for Kinrick Kids, then while preparing for the Ladies meeting, then by a friend sharing the same verse as well as a Facebook post that immediately followed mine talking about God's Goodness! God is the Artist who doesn't make mistakes. You are His poetry, masterpiece and greatest handiwork. (Taken from the devotional written by Cassy.) Those words made me think of Bob Ross and his quote, "No mistakes, only happy accidents." When you look up mistake in the dictionary, it says a misunderstood intention. So even when you feel like you are failing and a mistake in the negative sense, you may have just misunderstood God's intentions. There are many breakthroughs that were happy accidents that include insulin, X-rays, penicillin, super glue, the pacemaker and even plastic eating enzymes! Remember, YOU are God's Masterpiece!

Doesn't this just excite you?! God is not only personally helping these women but He is helping them together as a family group in Him! Our story has an affect on everyone we come in contact with and I am so pleased and proud of the journey each of them are on. Please join me in prayer that THIS will be a start to a wild fire that will just keep growing, that nothing will be able to put it out! We are actually coming to the end of the devotional that we are currently using and I will be purchasing a new one for the ladies. The next book will be called "Fiercely Loved by Lisa Bevere". As I pray for the ladies, I keep hearing God say that He wants to show the women their worth! He is going to open their eyes to see themselves the way God sees them. I cannot wait to start this book and journey with them! If you would like to give towards the cost of the books, the total cost is $156.00 for 10 books. I am so thankful for the way you all pray for me, the ministry, and for how your generosity is never ending! You are a blessing not only to me, but also to those I work with. Thank you!
