Happy Fall!

Our winter is about to an end, and we will soon have summer heat like you have just experienced, as we go directly from cool weather right into hot summer. I really miss fall in the States, seeing the trees turn from green to brown, red, and golden yellow, and blend together in a masterpiece of beauty. You can take the girl out of Texas, but you can't take Texas out of the girl.

This last month has been a difficult one, as youth and staff have been sick. Peter had malaria and I had an allergic reaction, cause unknown, with the most intense itching I have ever experienced. We are all on the mend and working hard as this is the boys last semester of school. Please keep praying for them daily!!!!

Recently, in a class I am taking online, Camara Courage School, the speaker asked us to write a list of 50 things that bring joy to my life, 50 things I want to do, and 50 things I want to have. Wow, this was not an easy assignment. My entire mindset is all ministry, the vision God gave me, and making sure it's done well, because I want to be a Godly steward of your amazing partnership. So thinking about what I wanted does not come into my thoughts often.

I owe it to our youth to continue to dream not only in what I want for them or our ministry but also in my own life. We are not one without the other!

God called me to make a difference in the next generation of Mozambican young men, to impact the country one young man and his family at a time. WE are making a huge IMPACT, much of which will be seen in years to come.

Sonia Pedro Sibia, has worked for BOHA for 9 years and does an outstanding job making sure everything is running smoothly allowing me to do the office work and teach class!!!! I asked Sonia to share what BOHA means to her, and this is what she said:

"First, I want to THANK YOU for your prayers for all of us, they make a difference and please continue. I also want to say thank you because your faithfulness to BOHA has been able to help so many youth over the years learn to read and write, to work, to cook and clean, and so much more but most important learn about JESUS! I love being a part of our ministry. I love my job, and I love having a job because of you, but I also feel this is my mission and so grateful God has allowed me to be able to help educate and train the young men of my country as they are the next generation of Mozambique. My job is trying to keep everything on time and making sure jobs are done correctly and classes are attended. I teach sewing, and cooking class as well! Again, THANK YOU for allowing me this chance, thank you for helping Mana Angie and helping all of us. Please keep praying and giving as God leads you because without YOU and Jesus this ministry is not possible."

Thank you for all who read this newsletter and thank you for our staff who work tirelessly for you and for the teens of Mozambique. I pray blessings, healing, and direction for all of us. Jesus this is all for you, we love you and are blessed and honored to be your servants and your children.

Let's Continue to be a Beacon of Hope,
